A Grand Day Out

Celebrate the reopening of the National Science and Media Museum with a day of free activities and film screenings, in partnership with Aardman Animations.

You may be aware that the National Science and Media Museum has recently announced its opening date of Wednesday 8th January with an exciting programme and re-vamped spaces.

The opening will be celebrated on Saturday 11th January with A Grand Day Out – a special partnership event for families with Aardman Studios including screenings of Wallace & Gromit, model making workshops and much more.

Pupils and their families are invited to come along on Saturday 11th and join the fun! <https://www.scienceandmediamuseum.org.uk/whats-on/grand-day-out> .

Entry to the museum is free.
